Four hundred men have been put to work on the Ohio & Ky. Railroad, being built from Jackson to Walnut Grove, Morgan county.

A small boy was once passing a saloon, and seeing a drunken man lying in the gutter in front of it, he opened the door and said: "Mister, your sign out here has fell down. The saloon man chased the youngster for nearly two squares.

All who execute the laws should themselves be law obeying citizens. They should be men of self control. They need to have full command of their physical, mental and moral powers, that they may possess vigor of intellect; and a high sense of justice.

Lots of people would starve if they were to sit down and wait patiently for the return of the bread they cast upon the waters.

The farmer does not have to solicit the patronage of any one. He does not have to enter into competition and strife with his neighbors like the merchant; he does not have to wrangle and warp the truth for a living like some people. In fact he can be one of the most independent men on God's green earth if he manages his affairs in a business manner. He has more time and equal opportunities for improving his mind he has less allurements for corrupting his morals, and his occupation is conducive of the highest development of his physical powers. He can be an intimate terms with his whole family, at peace with the world and he can worship God under his own fig tree none daring to molest him or make him afraid. —Exchange.

A strong the secret would put an corruption. failure in acc result, and po growing in favor the old fashioned could march up to have his vote reco and white, so that see, and the that his hall —George

There is a strong est- ing features in the 4 day report of First Assistant Master General Heath, who has just been made public. In some localities, it is said by Mr. Heath that opposition to the rural free delivery of mail has developed. one of Mr. Heath's correspondents having discovered that the system is vigorously opposed by the saloon-keepers who agree that their business is being injuriously affected by the failure of the farmers to come into the towns for their mail, and in consequence do not leave their dimes and nickels at the rum-seller's bar. This is a phase of the rural free delivery problem that should commend itself to temperance organizations all over the country, and no doubt will receive attention as it becomes more widely known.

The United States will have no Vice President until after next inauguration day. The law provides no method of filling the vacancy left by the lamented death of Mr. Hobart. In case of the removal, death, or inability of the President, there being no Vice President, the following members of the cabinet, in the order named are eligible to the Presidency until a new one has been elected: The Secretary of State, the Secretary of the Treasury, the Secretary of War, the Attorney General, the Postmaster General, the Secretary of the Navy, and the Secretary of the Interior. This law of succession was agitated after the assassination of President Garfield, which aroused public sentiment in its favor because only the life of one man—President Arthur—stood between the U. S. government and what might have been anarchy, but it was not enacted until after the death of Vice President Hendricks, Nov. 25, 1889, left the country in the same sort of predicament. It was because of the absence of any law providing for a successor that President Cleveland did not go to Indiana to attend the funeral of Vice President Hendricks; although the railroad authorities promised every possible precaution to prevent accidents it was decided not to take any chances, and only the cabinet went to the funeral. No such care being necessary now, President McKinley and his entire cabinet attended the funeral of Vice President Hobart, at Paterson, N. J., going on a special train and returning to Washington the same day—Saturday.

Dead Body Turned to Stone.

A remarkable embalming fluid has been discovered by a Swiss chemist which may solve the difficulties of overcrowding cemeteries. The theory on which the chemist operated in working out his discovery was that the functions of the heart and stomach do not cease instantly when death comes as is supposed. He verified the theory by experiments on animals prior to trying upon a human body. The practical operation is to inject within an hour after death the fluid into the heart and stomach simultaneously. The effect is the ossification of the body. Instead of following the usual method of placing the body where it is cool, it is placed in a room heated to sixty degrees, and in ten hours the body is practically a solid piece of stone.

The hair drops off, but the features are preserved, so that the ossified person can be recognized by friends. In the Swiss town where the chemist resides several parties, unwilling to part with their friends, keep the ossified bodies in their houses, just as they would marble statues.

The body thus ossified can be cut with a chisel like marble, and is as solid as if taken from a quarry.

By the use of the process people can not only retain the bodies of their relatives above ground and in their residences, if they will, but in case of public men, most life-like statues can be secured by literally transforming the bodies into stone. No sculptor's chisel can make a counterfeit presentment equal to the transformed body.

The new embalming process is so gruesome that the Swiss government is considering the advisability of forbidding its use, unless the friends bury the dead after transformation. The law requires the issue of burial permits after death, but if no burial takes place it is not complied with.

It remains to be seen whether this embalming chemist has struck a popular chord or not.—Artistic Advertiser.

The war in Africa is nothing compared to the importance of the war against the trusts that is starting in this country. It means that the people will rule or be ruled by those who control the great industries of the nation. There will be no peace until the trusts are owned and controlled by the people, as the trusts, by the use of military force, shall stifle all opposition and crush out all semblance of self government in the United States. Every effort to force some other question, such as the money question, imperialism or tariff, will be used by the magnates, but it will not win. Trusts are the most important question. Next year we will be face to face with the question of industrial liberty or servitude.—Appeal to Renss.

There is a new religious sect in North Carolina which makes it a rule to bathe daily from head to foot and put on clean underclothing. As cleanliness is next to Godliness they ought to "get there and stay there" as Sam Jones puts it. We know some who claim to have been regenerated who look like they never have taken a bath or changed their underwear. Certainly of such is not the Kingdom of Heaven.—Ex.

False Pride.

When you see a youth who will do any sort of work, no matter how menial it may be, rather than be idle, you can make up your mind he will amount to something. The young man who would starve before he would do anything beneath what he conceives to be his dignity, is not of the right kind of stuff to cut much of a figure in this life. All honest toil is honorable; there is nothing so morally degrading as that aversion to manual labor which is usually a combination of laziness and conceit.—Journal and Messenger.

A number of people contend that the twentieth century will not begin until January 1, 1901. But there they are wrong. It is reasonable to be supposed that if the first century began on January 1, it would end December 31, 100 years hence. Then the nineteenth century will come to a close at midnight, December 31, 1899, and the twentieth century begin January 1, 1900.

A certain mother in one of our smaller cities was very fond of playing progressive euchre. One evening she received a fine silver cup for being the most successful player. She was much delighted with her success and, on showing it to her family next morning, her son, in his early teens, said, "Heh! I can beat that, for I made $10 at the pool table last night!" Immediately the eyes of the mother were opened in more senses than one, for, in the first place, she had no idea that her son had thus been spending his time, and, in the next place, partners in sin, how could she condemn him? It taught her a lesson once for all.—Sel.

An old farmer who had been to the city was describing to his friends the splendor of the hotel where he put up. "Everything was perfect," said he; "all but one thing—they kept the light burning all night in my room, a thing I ain't used to." "Well," said one of his listeners, "why didn't you blow it out?" "Blow it out?" said the farmer; "how could I blow it out when the pesky thing was placed inside of a bottle."—Ex.

O. A. SNOW & CO.
Patent Lawyers. WASHINGTON, D. C.

The politician have a greater desire to rule badly than the people have to be ruled well.

It is strange how often some people prove themselves fools, and yet have no knowledge of it.

Those who feel better on drinking, first disqualify themselves by drink for feeling good.

Poverty would soon be an unknown quantity if men could dispose of their experience at cost.

"Have you any idea what you are talking about?" "I don't believe I have. You see, my wife's away, and it is such a blessed privilege to talk all I want to that I don't wonder I get things mixed."

C. A. Snow & Co., Patent Lawyers, opposite the United States Patent Office, Washington, D. C., who have actual clients in every city and town of the United States and Canada, report that never before in their 25 years' practice has the work of the office been so well up to date. They claim that patents can now be procured in less than half the time formerly required.

Defective flues are responsible over 11 per cent. of the fires and incendiarism is next as a cause. Last year 6,891 incendiary fires occurred. Lightning caused 3,479, spontaneous combustion 1,179, friction in machinery 295, natural gas, dust explosion 14, and five were caused by the sun's rays passing through window glass.

The Farm Journal is unlike any other paper; for one thing it prints no quick medical advertisements; for another it takes five years' subscriptions and gets the paper to its subscribers the full time if they are anywhere on this planet, even if they move two or three times; if they die their heirs get it. Now we are going to send the Farm Journal for the balance of 1899, and all of 1900, 1901, 1902 and 1903, nearly five years, to every advance-paying subscriber to the Times, but better speak quick, as we have only a limited number Farm Journals to offer on these terms.

FARM FOR SALE.

ARE YOU A DEMOCRAT?

An old adage reads: "There is a place for everything," and for everything to be in its place, the LOUISVILLE DISPATCH should find a place in the home of every DEMOCRAT in the SUNNY SOUTH. The Dispatch is the people's paper, owned by the people, and is always ready to fight for the cause of the people. IT STANDS SQUARELY ON THE CHICAGO PLATFORM, without the aid or consent of the Gold Bug Monopolies, and a fair comparison of its news service (now being furnished over leased wires by the New York Sun, the Chicago Inter Ocean and the Northern Press Association) with that of any other paper, will fully verify its motto, "If you see it in the Dispatch it's so, and if it's so it is always in the Dispatch."

The Dispatch also has a staff of over 300 active correspondents in the South, and will POSITIVELY GUARANTEE MORE THAN DOUBLE THE SOUTHERN NEWS of any other Louisville paper. Get the Dispatch; it gives the news and tells the truth about it.

Daily, 8 pages; Sunday, 24 pages; Weekly, 8 pages. We club with the Weekly Dispatch at the remarkably low price of 75 CENTS.

SHE WAS BLIND.

A blindness comes to me now and then. I have it now. It is queer—I can see your eyes but not your nose. I can't read because some of the letters are blurred; dark spots cover them; it is very uncomfortable.

I know all about it; it's DYSPEPSIA. Take one of these; it will cure you in ten minutes.

What is it?

A Ripans Tabule.

WARNING—A case of bad health that RIFANS will not benefit. They heal pain and prove life. One gives relief. Hold the word RIFANS on the package and accept no substitute. RIFANS, 10 for 1 cent or twelve packets for 2 cents, may be had at any drug store. Ten samples and one thorough pamphlet will be mailed to any address for 1 cent, forwarded to the Ripans Chemical Co., No. 57 Nassau St., New York.
